THEY SPUTTER AND FLARE UP.

Telephones on High Voltage in Shocking Mood.

Hundreds of Them Put Out By an Accident.

Too Much Boom on the Line Burns a House.

One house was destroyed by fire, another narrowly escaped burning, and more than 200 telephones were put out of commission by a falling derrick along the Arroyo Seco, late Monday afternoon. It cut in twain a cable of the Pacific Light and Power Company carrying 15,000 volts of electricity.

The accident occurred when but a few men were at work. The sixty-foot boom which is used to hoist material for the construction of a new bridge over the arroyo slipped from its anchoring bolts and fell with a crash across the power cables. One of them snapped in a second, and there followed a pyrotechnic display rivaling the fondest efforts of the celebrants of the Fourth of July. There was a sputtering and sizzling that sounded like a hundred cats in a fight.

In falling, the highly-charged wires struck the lines of the Home and the Sunset telephone companies and also some lighting wires. These in turn were broken and the terrific current flashed broadcast. Immediately it was over, the circuits of the Sunset and Home companies. Telephones for miles around were suddenly seized with a perverse spirit, and sputtered and flared up, to the terror of the occupants of the houses. Property was torn from the walls by the unseen force, and hundreds of them were rendered useless. Scores of persons who happened to be using the phones during the few minutes they were charged with the powerful current, were shocked and frightened half out of their wits.

LITTLE DAMAGE, HE SAYS.

The management of the Mercantile Bridge and Construction Company, which is building the structure over the arroyo, stated yesterday that it had a few men at work when the boom fell. One of the officers who he thinks not much damage was done, and that which resulted was soon repaired. He stated that the accident possible had been taken in the work, but in no manner the boom became loosened at its anchor bolts and fell with a crash across the power cables and into the arroyo. For an hour or more the workmen were afraid to touch the boom or anything connected with it, for the terrific current flashed broadcast. The Pacific Light and Power Company appeared on the scene, and the expert linemen untangled the boom and released the wires from the current. The Sunset company management stated yesterday that several of its switchboards were burned out, and about 200 telephones were out of commission. Nearly all of these were burned that they will have to be replaced by new ones it said. In other parts of the city, where the accident occurred, linemen and telephone experts are now busily engaged in repairing the damage. Everything that is in shape within twenty-four hours in that company's lines.

EXPECTS HARM UNDERGROUND.

The Home Telephone Company stated that it does not know to what extent its lines were damaged until the heavy cables, which contain hundreds of separate wires, are examined. A. B. Case, general manager of the company, said that the terrific voltage which flashed along the lines undoubtedly burned out a large portion of the underground cables, and the extent of this damage will be revealed in a few days. He stated that about 300 telephones were burned out. Both companies say that they have received no word of any accident occurring during the time the current was playing antics with their instruments. It is stated that the lighting of the company escaped damage which would have put every telephone in Los Angeles out of service. The lines are protected like the vaults of banks. They have every known means of cutting off burning danger, but a heavy charge like that which went over the wires from the power cable has a habit of leaping over obstructions and continuing its career. The lighting protectors on all of the central switchboards in the city were burned out, but these are repaired in a few minutes.

Mrs. Julian Johnson of No. 3102 Griffin avenue was severely shocked and hurried against the wall when she understood a severe call over the telephone. Mrs. Johnson had started to lift the receiver to her ear when the faint and roar came. There was a blinding flash, and she was hurled to the opposite side of the room. The telephone was shooting blue flames from every side. Mrs. Johnson, who was only stunned, says the instrument was completely destroyed, and that several neighbors had similar experiences.

WILL SHE NEVER SAIL?

Good Ship Which Was to Have Carried Negroes to Liberia Fails to Get a Sufficient Passenger List.

After her sailing date has been twice deferred, the ship which was to have carried 500 negroes from Los Angeles to Liberia will probably never leave this port.

Owing to the failure of sufficient passengers to purchase tickets, the ship which was to have put out from the harbor November 16 last, was scheduled to leave on the 1st, and later on the 15th. So few of the colored people of the city have responded to the idea of sailing for the distant haven that the ship will be abandoned. Reasonable rates and other inducements were offered to no avail. Comparatively speaking, the negroes are not numerous here, and it is evident that few of them care to leave on any terms.

If the excursion is abandoned, those who registered as themselves as colonists will have any money advanced returned to them.

PRETTY SCHOOL GIRL QUICKLY DISAPPEARS.

Miss Jessie May Gearhardt, who dropped out of sight Sunday between her parents' home and that of her grandmother. It is feared she is the victim of a man with a semi-hypnotic influence over her.

URGED by the girl's mother, who believes she has been lured away from her home by a man who has a semi-hypnotic influence over her, the police of three cities, are searching for Miss Jessie May Gearhardt, 15 years of age, the beautiful and talented daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Gearhardt, No. 1120 East Sixty-second street.

Born and reared in a Puritanical atmosphere, and later placed in a convent school, the police believe the girl would be free from all outside influences. Miss Gearhardt disappeared while enjoying the first vacation outside the convent walls.

Though she suspects that a man about 25 years old, who had repeatedly communicated with her daughter by telephone and had on one occasion called at this house, lured the girl away and is in consequence eager to see him punished to the full extent of the law, the mother yesterday begged the police yesterday morning to spend every effort to recall the girl, and let the man go until afterward.

Miss Gearhardt disappeared mysteriously Sunday afternoon. She went to the home of her grandmother, a short distance from the Gearhardt residence. The girl did not appear at the other house, and has not been seen or heard from since.

Thinking perhaps she might have been taken to San Diego, the police asked authorities there to look into the matter. Relatives of the family, living in the southern city, were also notified. Yesterday afternoon they wired that they are sure the girl has not been in San Diego.

She is 1 foot 8 1/2 inches tall, weighs about 125 pounds, is very light complexioned, with ruddy cheeks. Her eyes are deep blue. She has an abundance of very light auburn hair, which she wears in long waves.

DISLIKES BEING SHUT IN.

The girl showed a decided taste for music several years ago, and being a bright student in school, her mother thought it best to place her where she could be educated and instructed in music. The immaculate Heart Convent, No. 2600 West Pico street, seemed to the mother to offer particular advantages. The girl was very much attached to the institution. In all her communications with her family, Miss Gearhardt begged to be taken home, saying she dislikes very much being shut up. She said she wanted to be out with other girls and have a good time.

Perhaps the mother did not understand her. Mrs. Gearhardt suggested yesterday, discussing the disappearance, and she did not have her go so long for the holidays, however, she wanted her, and Jessie was welcomed.

Shortly after getting home, she received telegrams from a man believed to be Harry Wilson or Harry Murphy. This man called at the house, but Mrs. Gearhardt thought he looked like a tuberculosis victim and she feared to have her daughter associate with him.

The daughter admitted her attachment to the man was growing, but she would not say much about him. Asked where she first met him, the girl replied that she met him at a social gathering at the Stauson-avenue playgrounds before she was placed in the convent. Though they have no definite reason, the girl's parents are inclined to believe she met him some other place, where they do not know.

DOESN'T COME BACK.

Sunday afternoon a coat belonging to Mrs. Gearhardt's mother, who lives at No. 92 California street, was found at Mrs. Gearhardt's, and it was suggested that Jessie return it. She expressed willingness and started for California.

When she did not appear at her home the girl's mother became alarmed and communicated with the police. Learning that her daughter had not been there, then a search of the city was begun. The mother

GREAT RAILROAD COMING SOUTH?

Hill Wants Another Outlet to the Mexico Gulf.

Line Surveyed Through San Joaquin Valley.

Advantage of Ownership of Western Pacific.

The announcement in The Times on Monday that J. J. Hill had secured a strategic terminal lay-out in San Francisco is not only of tremendous interest to the entire railroad world, but of vast importance to Southern California. In a broad sense it means that Hill has carried his battle with the Harriman interests to the hitherto supposed impregnable stronghold of the Southern Pacific, and foreshadows the execution of a plan by which Hill proposes to bring his lines, that now grow from the Northwest, through California for a second outlet to the Gulf of Mexico or to a convenient connection with the now rapidly-completing Panama Canal on the Pacific Coast. Hill controls the Great Northern, the Burlington, and the Colorado and Southern. The Great Northern, with more than 2000 miles of main line track, stretches Washington, Montana, North Dakota, the east half of South Dakota, touches the Great Lakes at Duluth, with its other most important eastern terminals at St. Paul and Minneapolis. The Colorado and Southern, which now grows from the Northwest, through California for a second outlet to the Gulf of Mexico or to a convenient connection with the now rapidly-completing Panama Canal on the Pacific Coast. LAND DEAL IS NEGOTIATED.

A. Garvy Leases to the Texas Oil Company.

and Located in New Field at Toyah, Texas.

General News of Interest From Oil Fields.

John A. Garvy of Redondo Beach has just closed a deal with the Texas Oil Company of large proportions. Mr. Garvy has leased to the southern company the Standard Oil Company's acre of land supposed to be oil-bearing located in the Toyah, Texas.

The Texas Oil Company is headed by Redondo Beach between Garvy and an unnamed representative of the Texas Oil Company, and a bonus of $1000 was paid to the owner of the land. The company has bound itself to begin development operations within ninety days.

The Texas Oil Company is headed by John W. Gates, the steel trust multimillionaire, who invaded the Texas oil fields only a few years ago and promised to give the Standard and Waterbury companies a run for their money. Gates took advantage of the fact that the Standard and Waterbury were persona non grata to the Lone Star State, and having plenty of financial backing, he organized the Texas Oil Company, at the same time making large donations to churches and colleges. The company now owns and controls many producing wells, pipe lines and refineries.

pany are A. T. Mortenson, president; W. D. Walker, vice-president, and Louis George, A. C. Mischner, the secretary and treasurer of the company.

One of the cappers has been completed and is on exhibition on the sidewalk in front of the Coalings Land Company's office and is the object of considerable comment. Mr. Mortenson stated today that he expected to take the capper down to the Midway field in a few days for the purpose of trying the new contrivance out on the Midway Premier gusher.

The United Development Company bailed the water out of the No. 1 well on 19, 20-15, which was completed off recently in the ten-inch casing at 2002 feet, and the water has been found to be successfully shut off. Drilling will be resumed immediately and it is expected that a producer will be brought in within a few days.

On bailing the water out of this well it was found that the cement had not set in the six Acres well, and nothing further will be done until after the stockholders' meeting, which has been called for next Saturday.

Ready to Begin Work.

The Los Angeles Midway Oil Company, according to Secretary Bonnette E. Nott, is about ready to begin operations on its lease of eighty acres on section 8, 31-22, Midway field. The property is well located and many surrounding properties are good producers.

INSANE WANDERS FROM HOME.

Daughter of Rancher is Found by Roadside, Suffering From Exposure. To be Examined by Commission.

With her hair cut tight to her head and wearing a laborer's cut-off shirt, Mrs. Nellie E. Burger, daughter of a wealthy retired hardware merchant of Baldwin, Iowa, was found yesterday lying by the roadside, a few miles southeast of the city. Ranchers living in the vicinity carried her to the Receiving Hospital, where it was said she was suffering from a mental malady.

Mrs. Burger is about 24 years old, and was recently brought to California by her parents, who thought the change in climate would benefit her health. The young woman's mother said yesterday afternoon that she would have her daughter examined for sanity as soon as possible.

After coming here Mrs. Burger and her parents took up their residence on a small ranch. Mrs. Burger gained somewhat in health. Recently she became worse, and watch was kept upon her most of the time.

Yesterday morning she slipped into one of the rooms of the house unnoticed and, securing a large pair of shears, cut her hair. About an hour later she was found lying in the road.

Customer Complains to Police That Jeweler Substituted Piece of Glass for Original Diamond.

Charged with obtaining money under false pretenses in substituting a glass setting for a diamond in a ring they sold Bert Lawrence several weeks ago, Morris Hyman and Joseph Goldberg, former proprietors of a Spring-street jewelry store, were arrested yesterday by Detectives Jones and Boyd.

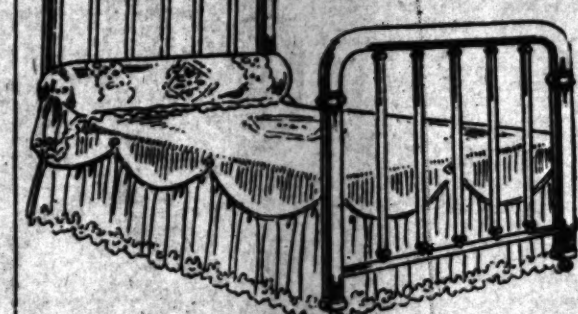

Lawrence did not discover that his ring was worthless until he tried to sell it, he said. The prospective purchaser was at first inclined to have Lawrence arrested for trying to sell him a "phony" ring, but later was convinced that he was acting in good faith.

In telling detectives about it yesterday, Lawrence said he purchased a ring from Goldberg for $100 paying $25 down and giving a note for the rest. When he returned to the store to make another payment, Lawrence said Goldberg told him that the ring he had sold him had a glass setting but

FEATURES AND FANCIES FOR WOMEN.

By Olive Gray

DAILY BEAUTY HINT: The question most frequently asked by women is regarding a face cream for general use. It is difficult to prescribe any one cream which will agree with all skins. There is a cream prepared from pure oils combined with the essence of the carrot which may find agreeable and beneficial. This is a cleansing cream and also whitens and softens the complexion while acting as a skin food.

"It is now the time to wish you cheer," embossed in gold beaded a golden clock upon a fine white card which bears the further words: "Here's to years of pleasant ways, fortunate and free from strife, may your life be full of days, and your days be full of life," ending with the name and address in the same envelope—this is the latest in New Year's cards which come from friends abroad and in the East. This kind of remembrance has quite superseded gifts for New Year's among friends and in fact used at Christmas as well. It bears the purely personal touch in that it is all specially engraved from an original plate composed by the sender.

Special Remembrance.

Speaking of wishing Good Cheer at the opening of the New Year, the ladies of The Times office wish the readers of something more than a wish if good cheer on New Year's. It was Good Cheer itself which Harry Chandler tendered when he invited us all to go to the Rose Carnival at Pasadena. The huge automobile coach of the Suburban Homes Company, the largest ever seen in Los Angeles, was crowded with happiness as the merry party proceeded to the city which was that day crowned Queen of the foothills. As the great automobile made its way now beside the trolley cars, which were not much its superior in size, again beside a levy of motor cars, people stared and commented and tried to guess who all were so happy as the blowing of horns and the laughter in that car seemed to indicate. One dear old lady from "way back East," turned to her companion and exclaimed: "I do declare, even the autos grow bigger out here in California than over they do back there, where the hard winters seem to stunt everything." It will doubtless take a whole page of legal cap to tell in her next letter home, what she thought of the way the poinsettias grown as large as umbrellas for there was such a one in the party.

Could she have followed that big auto all the way, her eyes would have opened still wider, for she would have seen, as we stopped to visit the printing plant where The Times is now turned out, the largest printing press ever brought west of the Rocky Mountains. It is wonderful that so complicated a piece of machinery could be transported and put together into a working entirety, for that is what it is, like a creature of steel and brass, just as Mrs. Otto described the printing press.

It was interesting to me to note the air of proprietorship shown by nearly every one of the party as we looked through the wonderful plant which was formerly merely an auxiliary, but is now fully equipped. Even those who had been with the paper but a short time said "our press" and gave an affectionate pat to "our glorious Midwestern Shmober" in passing the great stacks of that edition. That is a part of the greatness of the paper—the fact that those who help in any capacity to make it, feel themselves an integral part of it.

A Unique Christmas Dinner.
A man in Pennsylvania gave a Christmas dinner to the hungry, quail, pheasants, and rabbits, around his farm. The snow had been very heavy for many weeks and the little creatures of the woods had found hard work in making a living, so he divided with them on that day of good cheer. He distributed buckwheat, wheat and oats over the fields and also cabbage for the hungry rabbits. I tell that true loving-kindness, giving without thought of return.

Pommes Potatoes.
If no one thought to give it to her for Christmas, make for grandma a Pommes potato. Floors sometimes get cold, and feet, and the elderly are apt to have cold feet. The nice, big soft footstool will keep the feet warm and save many a twinge of rheumatism. Cut the rounds of heavy cushioned leather, leaving a space for opening to fit with the "stiffener" which may be of waste or clean rag. Then cover with dark cretonne or denim, tack a big button in the center and you will have an article which is both useful and pretty.

The Hot Water Bags.
The worn out hot water bag is just the thing to use on that day of good cheer. Cut the draining board of the sink. Cut the piece as large as possible and use it to prevent the dishes from being scratched as you place them to drain before wiping. The smaller pieces may be used to line the pockets in which you carry the tooth brushes which traveling, or for sponge bags.

To Eat.
This recipe is from the "101 Mexican Recipes," which little book, by the by, was entirely sold out at all the stores before Christmas. It is called "Succulent" and tastes as good as it sounds. Try a half-pound of chopped salt pork cut small. When brown, add a cup of corn and four small summer squash sliced—or you may use canned squash—or the larger variety shadocks. With Los Angeles do her part toward making this into a beauty-spot, a grand resting place for people, a glorious park from end to end, bubbling with fountains, beautiful with placid lakes and picturesque pools.

"Ever since I saw the lovely fountains in Rome, in old Nuremberg and other European cities last summer, my soul has longed for fountains for our own Los Angeles and this project of converting the Arroyo into a splendid park, with fountains and lakes and pools seems like a foreboding of the realization of that dream.

"It seems as if that Arroyo was put there for just exactly this purpose, doesn't it?—to unite Los Angeles and Pasadena with a magnificent park, and one that shall stretch on beyond the Crown City up to the very

has been built and is in operation for a 100 miles. The proposed line as carried on the map is southward to Klamath Falls, where an abrupt turn to the west carries the proposed construction to a connection with the Southern Pacific at Medford. But construction of the line would permit a direct line, already surveyed, through the San Joaquin Valley to Southern California.

Not Western Pacific?
Railroad men are not disposed to accept the theory that Hill has gained control of the Western Pacific, the westernmost link in the Gould system to the Pacific Coast. If true it would mean, however, either a traffic agreement with the Gould line from Grand Junction, Colo., half across Utah to Salt Lake, or the building of a link connecting the Hill-controlled Colorado line with the Western Pacific at Salt Lake, which, with the ownership of the Western Pacific, would give Hill railroad tracks of his own from Duluth, Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis, St. Louis, Omaha, Kansas City, and Denver to San Francisco.

New Traffic Agreement.
The recent traffic agreement announced between the Western Pacific Railroad and the Pacific Coast Steamship Company will become effective January 15. It means that either company may sell tickets to all parts of the country with the stipulation that the Gould lines be used between San Francisco and Denver and the steamship lines between Los Angeles and San Francisco.

Headquarters Transferred Here.
R. E. H. Cowie, western manager of the American Express Company, has established his official headquarters in Los Angeles. With his family he is occupying a home at 1005 South Deacon street.

Many Passengers by Boat.
The Queen, of the Pacific Coast Steamship line, sailed for San Francisco yesterday carrying 300 passengers. The Governor, dry-docked a month ago for renovation, will go into service north from San Francisco tomorrow.

PROTECTION FOR PARK.
As a result of the forest fire back of Hollywood on Sunday, the Park Commissioners yesterday showed their concern for the preservation of Griffith Park, and passed a resolution asking the City Council to immediately provide a fund of $100 for widening the firebreak to 100 feet. When presented to the Council, a couple of hours later, it was referred to the Finance Committee, and a report will probably be made at the adjourned meeting of that body to be held this morning.

Bargain Ship Sale.
To sail early in the morning, a new ship, the "Bargain Ship," will be sold at a low price. The ship is a new ship, and is a bargain.
